CHRIS ORRIN

DECEMBER 2023

ABOUT CHRIS

Christopher (Chris) Orrin is EDiscovery Counsel at Klehr Harrison, where he advises clients and colleagues on all aspects of electronic discovery in the context of litigation and investigations. His work includes managing data collections, using advanced technologies to cull and filter data sets, managing document reviews and productions, and negotiating ESI protocols.

PARTNERING WITH HAP

Chris began volunteering with HAP in 2022 and appreciates having an opportunity to give back and help people in need. Chris says: "I thoroughly enjoy witnessing the meaningful impact of the assistance HAP provides to its clients. For example, I worked with a client on a Satisfaction of Judgment and Security Deposit claim for a few months in 2023. Because of an uncooperative opposing party, the process became prolonged. Eventually, though, my client had her day in court.

"HAP's clients have pressing legal needs that would otherwise go unaddressed without HAP's staff and volunteers. I am happy to contribute to the important work that HAP does in Philadelphia."

We ensured her judgment was satisfied and we were awarded the amount in controversy, plus damages. It felt rewarding to have assisted my client in obtaining this great and deserved result."

HAP Senior Staff Attorney Pat Malley says: "Chris went to bat for a HAP client who was seeking a return of a rental security deposit and a satisfaction of judgment to clear her housing record. After attempting to negotiate with the landlord who did not want to settle, Chris took the matter to court and obtained a significant monetary award, including return of the security deposit and treble damages. This was a terrific and unusual win in that low-income tenants almost never have attorneys to advocate on their behalf. Thank you, Chris, for an extra special win on behalf of a single mom and her children!"
